EXPERIENCE

Doctoral Researcher
John Jay College of Criminal Justice

📅 2020 - Present   📍 New York, New York

My dissertation takes a community-based participatory approach to examine the impact of overdose prevention centers (OPCs) in two areas of New York City.

- Developing micro-level analysis of crime and disorder based on proximity to an OPC using crime-mapping methods.
- Conducting in-depth interviews with community stakeholders and residents on perceptions of OPCs and crime in their neighborhood
- Preliminary findings will be presented at the American Society of Criminology Conference in November 2024.

Doctoral Research Fellow
Healthcare Approach to Justice Collaborative

📅 2023 - Present   📍 Montclair, New Jersey

Data lead for developing and evaluating an emerging hospital-based violence intervention program (HVIP), Project HEAL in Monmouth County, New Jersey.

- Participates in community-coordinated response meetings to bridge connections between program staff members and community resources.
- Establishes partnerships with program director and staff to come up with solutions for data collection in the hospital setting.

Co-Principal Investigator
Reentry Coalition of New Jersey

📅 2022 - 2024   📍 Bridgeton, New Jersey

Designed and undertook a process evaluation of Village of Hope Transitional Housing Program in New Jersey, the first tiny home shelter in the United States developed for the reentry population.

- Conducted interviews with program stakeholders on the development and implementation of Village of Hope.
- Drafted report and disseminated findings to stakeholders.

Doctoral Research Fellow
John Jay College Research and Evaluation Center

📅 2021 - 2022   📍 New York, New York

Developed report on the current state of research on community-based violence intervention programs at the roots (CVI-R) that do not rely on police intervention.

- Worked alongside team to produce reader-friendly report assessing the need for more rigorous evaluation strategies of CVI-R programs across the United States.
